The CMCL-FAIMER Regional Institute's Fellowship is a two years fellowship program designed for Indian medical school faculties who have the potential to play a key role in improving medical education at their institutions. The program is uniquely designed to teach education methods and leadership skills, as well as to develop strong professional networks with other medical educators. The Fellowship is now running in its fifth year.

Twenty Fellowships are on offer for the year 2010. Requirements for selection are submission of a curriculum innovation project proposal and letter of support from the applicant's institution. Limited funding is available to support Fellows' travel, local expenses and course fee.

The application process is online at <http://faimeronline2.ecfm.org/>
